CZECH DESIGN

ASSOCIATION OF CZECH INDUSTRIAL DESIGN

The Association of Czech Industrial Design (AČPD) is a professional organisation comprising 26 companies united by their predominant production in the Czech Republic and systematic collaboration with designers. The member brands of the Association form the core of Czech design production, represent the country‘s growing industry, and rank among European and global leaders in their field. They build upon traditional crafts, adding new dimensions through modern technologies and approaches.

The Association perceives and promotes design as an integral part of innovation, a product’s added value, and a tool for competitiveness in the dynamic global market. Distinctive design, meticulous craftsmanship, visionary thinking, and sustainable production are the values that create a unique brand story and significantly contribute to raising awareness of the national brand.
